

RANKIN HITS JEWS
IN USUAL ATTACK

By CARL HARTMAN

(c) 1943, Jewish Telegraphic Agency, Inc.

WASHINGTON—Race issues and pseudo-race issues came up again during the last days preceding the Congressional recess, without accomplishing or proving anything except that the ruminations of some Congressmen on this subject closely resemble those of the Nazis. It might be supposed that the problem of meat supply would have little to do with race, either in the scientific or the Nazi sense, but Rep. John Rankin, Mississippi Democrat, discovered a connection:

"Mr. Speaker," Rankin wrote, "the gentleman from New York (Democratic Rep. Emanuel Celler) said a moment ago that they ought to seize the farmer's meat and cattle in order to feed the people in New York. Now, if he will send that gang of communistic Jews and Negroes that came down here day before yesterday and tried to storm the House restaurant, and went around arm in arm with each other in this Capitol, if he will just send them down into Texas, or out into the West, or anywhere else in the cattle-growing belt, to do the seizing of those cattle, they will not have so many people to feed in New York."

Whether Rankin ever delivered this suggestion for a lynching-bee on the floor of the House of Representatives is hard to determine, because of the peculiar rules governing the printing of the Congressional Record. What Rankin did say was taken down by the House stenographers, but the Mississippi Congressman is fond of the privilege of "revising and extending" his remarks. That gives him the opportunity to inspect a typewritten transcript, and to make changes and additions for the printed Record. Some Congressmen use this chance to excise intemperate remarks made in the heat of debate, but intemperate remarks form the substance of most of Rankin's speeches.

In characteristic vein, Rankin went on to discuss the Detroit riots:

"It is dawning on the American people who is creating and promoting this race trouble and race riots throughout the country."

"I want to say to the gentleman from New York that when they dig into those race riots in Detroit and elsewhere, they will find that the same element promoted them, and they will find the same element stirring up race trouble here in Washington."

"When these communistic Jews—of whom the decent Jews are ashamed—go around here and hug and kiss these Negroes, dance with them, intermarry with them, and try to force their way into white restaurants, white hotels and white picture shows, they are not deceiving any red-blooded American, and, above all, they are not deceiving the men in our armed forces—as to whom is at the bottom of all this race trouble."

"The better element of the Jews, and especially the old line American Jews throughout the South and West, are not only ashamed of, but they are alarmed at, the activities of these communistic Jews who are stirring this trouble up."

To bring Rankin into perspective, it must be noted that he gets little attention from either the press or most of his colleagues. Newspapermen, quick to spot a windbag, retire to comparatively elevating poker games when he takes the floor. Congressmen—all but a few—find matters of greater interest to them in the cloakrooms.

Unknown Rabbi
Leads N. Y. Voting
For ConferenceBy BORIS SMOLAR
(JTA News Editor)

NEW YORK — We hear that Rabbi Stephen S. Wise and Dr. Nahum Goldman have suggested that the American Jewish Conference be postponed until November.

The mystery of how a totally unknown rabbi connected with an unimportant institution could secure the largest number of votes in Manhattan in the elections to the American Jewish Conference continues to be the talk of Jewish groups in New York. Nobody ever heard of Rabbi Ber Bergman and yet he received 3,854 votes as compared with the 3,513 votes received by Rabbi Stephen S. Wise. He received 1,000 votes more than Rabbi Israel Goldstein and about 1,300 votes more than Louis Lipsky. Does it pay, after all, to be a leader in Jewry?

Zionists in Chicago think that "it was not wise" of Rabbi Stephen S. Wise to send a wire to his followers there to vote for American Jewish Congress candidates at a time when he was appointed a delegate-at-large for the Zionists. My friend H. L. Meites, editor of the Chicago Jewish Chronicle, thinks — and says so — that while the results of the elections are more or less satisfactory, an impartial evaluation and analysis of the number of votes certain candidates received leaves one somewhat "disappointed and disheartened." Some of the candidates, he claims, were elected not because of their outstanding scholarship, knowledge, experience and qualifications for the momentous and historic gathering, but rather because of their affiliation with certain organizations and pride in group popularity. Others, he says, were truly representative, were defeated because they did not receive due consideration.

RABBI GORFINKEL

Gorfinkel Named
Chanute Chaplain

Special

EVANSVILLE—Rabbi Joseph A. Gorfinkel of the Adath Israel Synagogue left Thursday, July 16 for Chanute Field, Ill., to serve as Chaplain for the Jewish soldiers there. He will replace Chaplain Edward Ellenbogen who will leave for a 5-week special course at the School for Chaplains at Harvard.

Rabbi Gorfinkel received the temporary assignment from the committee on Army and Navy Religious Activities. He will receive no remuneration for his services as chaplain, getting living and transportation expenses from the Jewish Welfare Board.

Rabbi Gorfinkel has been active in religious work in the armed services, having served first at Chapel 1516 at Camp Breckinridge until the arrival of the full time Jewish Chaplain and since then serving as civilian Chaplain at George Army Air Field near Lawrenceville, Ill.

Lodge Here Plans
Picnic at Longacre

A B'nai B'rith picnic with the soldiers who ordinarily are served by the Kirshbaum USO on Sunday as guests of the lodge, has been arranged for Sunday, Aug. 8 for Longacre Park, it was announced by Jack Kammins, chairman of the affair.

According to present plans the soldiers will be taken to the picnic together with the regular Kirshbaum Cadettes, and will take part in all the activities, including swimming, boating, dancing and a feature baseball game between a team of lodge members and a team of soldiers. The supper will be served jointly by the Women's Auxiliary and Cadettes and will replace the regular Sunday night supper served at Kirshbaum.

Council To Meet

The full membership of the Public Relations Council, together with certain specified merchants, will hold a special meeting at Kirshbaum Center at 8 p. m. Wednesday, July 21. Norman E. Isaacs, chairman, will preside.

Mr. and Mrs. Morris A. Stillpass and daughter Hannah, Mr. and Mrs. Lorenze Stillpass and daughter Carol, Mr. and Mrs. Morton Stillpass and son Roger and Mr. Samuel Stillpass attended the graduation exercises of their son and brother Leo who became an ordained Rabbi July 3rd from the Hebrew Union College, Cincinnati, Ohio.

Yiddish Paper Bombed
By Palestine Extremists

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency

JERUSALEM — A bomb exploded this week in the printing plant in which the Yiddish-language weekly newspaper Naje Welt ("New World") is printed. The bomb caused great damage to the machinery and furniture. The plant is located in Ramath-Gan, near Tel Aviv.

As soon as the news of the blast became known in Jerusalem, the Jewish National Council of Palestine issued a statement strongly condemning the methods used by extremists in fighting against the Jewish press published in Palestine in languages other than Hebrew.

Captain Returns From New Guinea, Son Ungrateful

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency

NEW YORK—This is a tale of patriotic and parental sacrifice, and filial ingratitude.

Captain David Scher, 27, chief surgeon of an army air squadron, was in the thick of combat on torrid New Guinea for many months. Besides his work in treating the wounded there and on other South Pacific battle fronts, he took part in a number of bombing flights. He contracted malaria while en route from New Guinea to Australia and suffered the deliriums of that debilitating fever.

Then one day his deepest wish was granted. He was allowed a furlough, so that he could return to Brooklyn, N. Y., and visit his wife and their nine-month old baby boy, whom the captain had never seen.

Mrs. Scher met the captain at La Guardia Field a couple of weeks ago. In her arms she carried young Jacoby Allen.

Yvonne Scher greeted her husband on the runway, and Scher held out his arms for his blond, blue-eyed son.

But Brooklyn-born Jacoby Allen is no hero worshipper. Confronted by his father, he was at first blandly contemptuous, regarding the strange man with an even, almost incredulous stare. "A philanderer," his expression implied. "A fine father. Never home. Not even for my birth. The worst kind of absenteeism." And then, while his crestfallen dad held him aloft, the captain's son suddenly could conceal his feelings about the entire situation no longer, and began wailing lustily. And he wouldn't stop screaming until Mrs. Scher removed him from her husband's arms. It was horrible.

It took Captain Scher his entire 15-day furlough to get his son to treat him with even distant courtesy, after which the captain had to report at Randolph Field, Texas, to attend a class in aviation medicine. When he's through with that, he plans to enroll in a charm school and read books on child psychology. A reception like the one he got is enough to cause complexes, the captain says, even in the psyche of an army air squadron chief surgeon who has come face to face with the Japanese.

TRUE STORY

Professor Solomon Michaels of the Moscow Jewish State Theatre, now in this country on a cultural mission, has many interesting tales to tell of the part Soviet actors are playing in the war as performers who bring the theatre to the troops at the front. . . One of these stories concerns a performance that was being given in the front lines when the show was interrupted by a German attack. . . As it happened, the theme of the play was anti-Nazi, and one of the characters—the villain, of course—was a Nazi officer in full uniform. . . So after the Germans had been successfully repulsed and the Nazi prisoners were being herded off, the actor playing that part found himself at the wrong end of a bayonet, being prodded along together with the captured enemy. . . He expostulated with his "captors," but they, wise to such Nazi tricks, paid no attention to him. . . Finally, in disgust he began to express his feelings, with great eloquence, in mameleschen.
So his fellow Russians were convinced he was no Nazi, and let him rejoin his troupe, which was resuming its performance where it had left off.

ABOUT PEOPLE

Still a patient in a Navy Hospital is Lt. Joseph K. Taussig Jr. whose leg was shattered by Jap fire at Pearl Harbor—and whose father, Vice Admiral Joseph K. Taussig, was shouted down as an alarmist when, quite some years ago, he came out with the statement that Japan was preparing to attack us. . .
Count Richard N. Coudenhove-Kalergi, who follows in the footsteps of his father, the late Count Heinrich Coudenhove-Kalergi of Austria, as a fighter against anti-Semitism, and who fathered the Pan-Europa movement immediately following the last war, now heads a research seminar at New York University on a post-war European federation. . . Racial theorists will please note that the Count's ancestry is one-fourth Belgian, one-fourth Greek and one-half Japanese. . .
Songstress Jane Froman will have to have another operation before she can hope to recover from the injuries she suffered in the Lisbon Clipper crash, and it'll be months before she's able to walk without crutches—but she has already signed to appear on Broadway in the fall as the star of "Artists and Models".

Lane Bryant Sends Check Post Adds Two For $43.20 to Kirshbaum New Correspondents

The "coffee fund" of the Lane
Bryant Co., which several months ago was distributed among four local USO organizations, has again been distributed, it was announced this week. The USO club at Kirshbaum benefited by a check for $43.20.

The fund is obtained by sales of coffee at a nominal price per cup to employees of the Lane Bryant Company, which prior to rationing served the drink without charge.

Gimeles Chesod Serves Supper

towards the success of the event by setting the tables for the supper.

Two new correspondents have been added to the staff of The Post, it was announced this week. They are Mrs. Bernard W.
Roth, who will report the Terre Haute news and Mrs. Joseph Wallerstein, who will report the Michigan City happenings. Mrs.
Roth is replacing Mrs. Max L.
Bernheimer, correspondent for the past several years, who has taken a full time position as secretary to Lewis Sutin, District No.

Celler Pleads For Visitor Stays For Refugees

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency

WASHINGTON—A strong plea for admission into the United States of a "reasonable number" of European refugees as visitors for the duration of the war was made in the House this week by Rep. Emanuel Celler of New York.

Rep. Celler based his argument on an editorial published in the New York Post of June 21, which he read into the Congressional Record. The editorial, entitled "Can We Do Less?" pointed out that 40,000 Nazi and Fascist soldiers have been brought to this country as prisoners of war and are being well cared for here. It asked whether Hitler's victims were not entitled to at least equal humanitarian consideration.

Youngsters Enjoy Rhodius Outing

Members of the Jingle Jangle Club, under the supervision of Miss Ruth Smith and Mrs. Plummer, this week were present at a swimming party and variety show at Rhodius Park. Members of the group are Daisy Eskenazi, Bella Eskenazi, Patty Williams, Diane Clare Lukenbill, Barbara and Betty Jo Willouby, Delores Ferguson, Charlotte Levy, Gloria Levy, Jacquiline eJones, Norma Logsdon, Persia Harmon and Wilma Lockyard. The group also collaborated with the Dairy Council in presenting a puppet show at School 22 Monday and Tuesday of this week.

The Baking Committee, responsible for keeping the Cookie Jar at the U.S.O.-J.W.B. Club stocked this week included the Mesdames Barney Podkin, David Shane, and Abe Goldsmith.

1st Palestine Vessel Since War Reaches U. S.

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency

NEW YORK — The first passenger vessel from Palestine to reach the United States since America's entry into the war arrived this week after crossing waters infested with Nazi submarines. It carried about 100 Jewish passengers.

Polish Royalists Spread Anti-Semitism in Britain

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency

LONDON — An organization calling itself the Polish Royalist Association, led by Count Potocki who styles himself King Wladislaw The Fifth, is now engaged in conducting violent anti-Jewish propaganda in England, the London Jewish Chronicle reports.

The paper discloses that the "king" has established a printing plant of his own, is issuing "court circulars" and is publishing prop-

That One Call May Delay An Important War Message

☆ Please avoid making Long Distance telephone calls—business or personal—whenever you possibly can. The Long Distance lines, especially the main cross-country routes, are loaded with urgent calls that expedite the war.

It's easy to say to yourself: "I know the lines are crowded, but surely one more call can't make any difference." But, remember, there's a limit to the number of calls that can be handled at one time. Beyond that limit, other calls must wait until somebody hangs up.

Every additional call does make a difference! War needs the telephone wires.

AL SEGAL Speaks On MAN ON STREET

MY GOOD FRIENDS among the Zionists have been complaining about the piece against Zionism that Lessing Rosenwald wrote for "Life" magazine recently. I always have to be chiding them for their state of mind in which an anti-Zionist has come to be regarded as a kind of traitor to what is called the Jewish nation.

Mr. Rosenwald, they said, had publicly stabbed "the Jewish nation" in the back. Their quaint fantasy already has established a Jewish nation in being and has peopled it with patriotic citizens and quislings.

My friend whom I shall call by the now familiar name of Zilch was feeling particularly distraught. He asked what would be thought of a citizen of the United States who spoke that way against the best interests of this country? Then what's to be said about Mr. Rosenwald who from the roof tops, you might say, declaims against even the idea of a Jewish nation.

Mr. Zilch was so full of distress that he scarcely had words enough to say about Mr. Rosenwald. He said it didn't matter if obscure people like me were derelict to the Jewish nation. But Mr. Rosenwald!

When I said, "But, Mr. Zilch, what is the Jewish nation?" he turned away in complete disgust and left me standing at the street corner. I called after him. I meant to tell him that I know nothing of a Jewish nation in being, that as a Jew I have no feeling of being of a Jewish nation. . . "Mr. Zilch!" . . . But he would have nothing more to do with me.

Whenever I stick my neck out in this way I always get it slapped but I must say I think Mr. Rosenwald was quite right. He said: "Those of the Jewish faith who oppose the creation of a National Jewish State hold that it embraces the very racist theories and nationalistic philosophies that have become so prevalent in recent years, that have caused untold suffering to the world, and particularly to the Jews. Those who hold this view contend that race and nationality long ago became obsolete as realities in Jewish history; that they remain now only as a reaction to discrimination and persecution."

I believe that most Jews in the United States go along with Mr. Rosenwald in having no national feeling other than that of being American. If you asked the Jewish man on the street he would tell you: "Me and my nationality? My nationality is American and I'm nothing else. It always gives me a gripe to be asked by some non-Jew, what is your nationality? Of course, what he means to ask me is whether I am a Jew. They seem to think that being a Jew is a different nationality from other Americans. But I always reply I am an American and nothing else."

The Jewish man on the street would say that he is a Jew because his religion is Jewish. "Mind you, I don't go to the synagogue as often as I should. I go on the anniversaries of my parents' death and I'm there on Yom Kippur and Rosh Hashonah. In that way I am Jewish and I don't see why they want to make anything else out of me."

His mind isn't at all troubled by politics of Palestine and he resents being dragged into it. "I am a citizen of the United States and I have enough to do keeping up with the politics of this country, and why should they mix me up with the politics of a foreign country. That doesn't do me as a Jew in America any good."

He gets worried about his American status when he hears talk of a Jewish state in Palestine. One of the things he has felt comfortably sure of is the security of his American citizenship, and won't a Jewish state in Palestine put another national tag on him and make him look like two kinds of American? He says of course he knows he would still be the good American he is, but a lot of people who are always looking for chances like that, would say you've got a government over in Palestine and why don't you go there. . . "We have trouble enough explaining ourselves and why should they put any more on us?" . . . He asks to be allowed to be only himself—an American of Jewish religion.

This man on the street is no straw man I have invented for the purpose of my argument. I know him as my friend in the simple social relationships and I have reason to believe he is in the majority. He is not prominent and he is never heard in the public forums of Israel. He is never found in the gathering places of the professionals who because they do all the talking imagine they are the voice of Israel. He can't make speeches and his tongue becomes twisted when he attempts to make one but that fact doesn't vitiate his opinion.

He will tell you that he is not against making a good country for homeless Jews out of Palestine. He says they've done a swell job there so far and he should like to see it go on and get better. He has given money for that.

About building up Palestine he feels exactly as Mr. Rosenwald does. Mr. Rosenwald said: "It is to be hoped that Palestine can look forward to the ultimate establishment of a democratic, autonomous government wherein Jews, Moslems and Christians shall be justly represented; every man enjoying equal rights and sharing equal responsibilities; a democratic government in which Jews will be free Palestinians whose religion is Judaism."

"It is further hoped that such a program, embodying the spirit of the Atlantic Charter and the Four Freedoms, would be one to which Moslem and Christian would subscribe together with the Jew, and that Palestine might be another demonstration to the world that men of all faiths can live together in mutual respect for one another, and that such high regard of man for man is the cornerstone of lasting peace."

The Jewish man on the street thinks the same way. He is Sam and Dave and Milton and Morris. He is the common man of Israel who is never heard and who, if he is thought of at all, is set aside as one who doesn't know what is best for him. The politicians of Israel go ahead to plan a world for him.

He deserves to be heeded even though he can't make speeches. After all, he is the one who will have to live in the kind of world the nationalistic politicians make—if they succeed in making it.

very much after Naziism. The program of the America First Committee being "Aryan" the committee was willing to "Aryanize" the Negroes in the same manner in which the Japanese people have been "Aryanized" by Hitler, providing that the Negroes, through their religious organizations, could remove the Jews as an obstacle.

Jewish Stores Looted In Detroit Riots

NEW YORK—A study of Detroit's recent racial riots revealed a peculiar "Jewish angle." A walk through Hastings St., the center of destruction, shows that about 80 per cent of all stores over a distance of about two miles were looted, and it is estimated that about three-fourths of all the ruined stores were Jewish.

An interesting angle of the Detroit racial riots from a Jewish viewpoint, is the story told by Louis Martin, editor of the Michigan Chronicle, a Negro publication. Mr. Martin told how a Negro agent of the America First Committee had approached him with a proposition to lure Detroit Negroes into his organization on a general anti-Semitic and anti-labor program modeled INDIANAPOLIS FRIENDS were glad to renew friendship with Mrs. Elias Dulberger of Washington, D. C., a visitor last week in Indianapolis. The late Elias Dulberger was a well-known attorney of this city. The daughter Nettie Marie Dulberger was recently graduated from the National Law School, Washington, D. C., following in her late father's footsteps. Harriet is in government service. A son, Major Milford E. Dulberger, is stationed at Scott Field, Ill. First Lt. Howard L. Dulberger is in service at Indiantown Gap, Penn. A third son, Lt. Murray Dulberger is a pilot in the Air Corps overseas. Mrs. Dulberger left Indianapolis this week to visit with her son, at Scott Field.

A KIDDUSH CUP, gold inscribed, was presented to the men of Jewish faith at Camp Breckenridge, Ky., by the Washington Avenue Sisterhood of Evansville with impressive services at a regular Friday evening service at the camp. Mrs. Louis Marks, president of the Sisterhood, presented the Kiddush cup. Colonel Smith, Divisional Chaplain, accepted it for the camp. Rabbi Milton Greenwald of the Temple delivered a special message for the occasion. The Washington Avenue Sisterhood has set the example for other Sisterhoods. Mrs. Marks has been especially active and valuable as a leader in war work for the camp.

MAJOR SAMUEL J. MANTEL has cabled his mother, Mrs. Emil Mantel, of his safe arrival in London.

HE WAS BORN in Tiptonville, Tenn., but raised in New Castle, Ind. He is a graduate of the Indiana Law School, received his master's degree in law from Harvard Law School and then came to Indianapolis and became associated with Jackiel Joseph, later becoming a member of the firm. He is president—has been for several years—of the Jewish Community Center Association and is a member of the Jewish Federation Board. He is a past president of the Mid-West Section of the Jewish Welfare Associations. He is a Past Supreme Prior of Sigma Alpha Mu Fraternity and is a member of the National Board. He plays a good golf game having won a medal or two at golf. He is a member of the Indianapolis Hebrew Congregation. He holds membership in the Indiana University and in the Harvard Clubs. His present chief interest is his six-month-old son, Dixon. Congratulations on your birthday, July 30, Theodore Dann.

CONGRATULATIONS to Mrs. Bernard Rosenak and Mrs. Victor Goldberg, who have completed their intensive training under the Red Cross Hospital and Recreational Corps for duty in military hospitals and are now "Grey Ladies." They are assigned to Billings Hospital.

SIDNEY ROMER will be 49 on July 22. He tried out other cities—Oskaloosa, Ia., where he was born, Boonville, Mo., where he attended Kemper Military School, Monmouth, Ill., where he was graduated from High School and Chicago, Ill., his first business venture! And then 20 years ago or more, he chose Indianapolis in which to settle and to marry and rear a family. Sidney Romer has hosts of friends. He is a Zionist, a member of B'nai B'rith, of Kiwanis, and Mason. He is a former member of the Board of the Jewish Educational Association and of the Indianapolis Hebrew Congregation. He is a past president of the latter's Brotherhood. He golfs and bowls. The Romers have two sons, Pvt. Bob Romer at Camp Lee, Va., and Bill Romer, a sophomore at Shortridge. Right now, a flourishing Victory Garden, nurtured tenderly by him, yields beans, peas, radishes, onions and lettuce with tomato vines in a grand condition.

Books

New Book Traces Bias In U. S.

By BORIS SMOLAR
(JTA News Editor)

NEW YORK — I advise Jews and non-Jews alike to secure a copy of the excellent "History of Bigotry in the United States" just published by Random House. It took Gustavus Myers, the author, about 17 years to complete his research work for this book, but the volume, which was published only a few months after his death, is the best monument the author could have desired. It is the first complete, factual and up to date history of all the attempts in the United States to spread hatred of Catholics and Jews.

About ten chapters of this book are of direct interest to Jews. They deal with the lynching of Leo Frank in the South. They review the campaign of bigotry conducted against Catholics and Jews by Thomas E. Watson, the ambitious congressman from Georgia who was named in 1904 elections by the People's Party which polled a vote of more than 1,000,000. They analyze the Ku Klux Klan period of campaigning against Jews, Catholics, foreign-born and Negroes. They give the complete history of Henry Ford's seven years of calumnies against Jews and the texts of his letters of apology.

They then expose the anti-Jewish methods of the various anti-Semitic organizations which sprang up in the United States soon after Hitler's coming to power in Germany. Father Coughlin is "honored" in the book with a special chapter devoted to his anti-Semitic propaganda, and so are the Christian Frontiers and the Christian Mobilizers.

The role of Charles A. Lindbergh in parroting anti-Jewish accusations is similarly well analyzed in a special chapter dealing with the evil of bigotry during the period of the existence of the America First Committee. It is a book that every student ed candidate for President in the of Jewish history in America must have.

Word has reached Indianapolis of death July 4 of Mrs. Marie Katz Stein, wife of Cpl. Laurel Stein of Camp Perry, O., at the Grant Hospital in Columbus, O., following an illness of one week. Funeral services were held on Wednesday, July 7 in Columbus, O. Beside the husband, she is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Milton Katz, of Columbus, of Chicago.

O., and a brother, Lt. Col. Henry Katz, stationed at Camp Van Dorn, Miss. Cpl. Stein is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Stein, Hartford City, Ind. Mrs. Henry Katz was a bride of a little more than eight months. Among those in attendance at the funeral services in Columbus were Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Stein of Hartford City, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wolfe, and Mrs. E. H. Goodman of Terre Haute, Ind., and Mrs. S. Epstein of Chicago.

TOWN CRIER

By G. M. C.

The more you think about it, the angrier you get at that large (2 inches deep and four inches wide) classified ad in The Indianapolis Star Monday, headed in type one-half inch deep, "CHRISTIAN WOMEN" and then going on to say: "Here is your opportunity to enter the employ of an organization made up of Christian persons where profanity and smoking will not be found." At another point the ad reads: "Give full information as to your age, factory experience, if any, church connection and nationality".

Now the question is how could such an ad get by the Star's staff? There isn't any point in charging the paper with malice, but certainly the paper has a responsibility and can be expected to exercise some judgment.

Walking into Wheelers Wednesday morning, I spied Dick Lewis, eating what is his last civilian breakfast for the duration. Dick left immediately thereafter for Volunteer Candidate School, and the Indianapolis Times will be searching about for a new dramatic editor. Dick and Louise, his wife, made many friends here, and their little son, Jonathan is a Hoosier, now nine months old. Louise has gone to Pittsburgh to be with Dick's folks for the summer and then will go to Philadelphia where she will live with her parents.

The ambitious plans of the B'nai B'rith to sponsor gigantic outdoor dance during the summer for the men and women in the armed services is going ahead as arranged but on a smaller scale than at first devised. What happened was this. The lodge decided to raise among its members a sum of $5,000 for this and other war service activities. The drive had already reached a goodly amount, when the Welfare Fund at one of its board meetings decided the campaign conflicted with the United War Fund drive, of which the Welfare Fund is now a constituent, and lodge officials were advised acquiesced with the ruling, although the solicitation was being confined solely to lodge members.

Tagged stage door canteen the first dance will be this Saturday night, and every Saturday night during the summer thereafter, on the Memorial plaza and in conjunction with the USO downtown Service Center.

I hear that the Open Forum Committee which heretofore has comprised some thirty or forty members has been completely revamped and that now there are thirteen members of the committee, six of them non-Jewish. The Open Forum, you recall is the JCCA forum, and it has been criticized off and on for not bringing more or all Jewish programs. The new chairman is Norman Isaacs, and among the non-Jewish members are Dr. M. O. Ross, president of Butler University, Rowland Allen, Ayres' personnel director, Mrs. John K. Goodwin, State President of the League of Women Voters, Russell Ryan and two others. The sledding for the Forum has not been too easy in recent years, and the old committee was more or less of a glorified ticket-selling organization.

Rose Tire Co. Announces Synthetic Rubber Tires

The Rose Tire Co., 930 North Meridian St., announces the first showing this Saturday of Miller Geared - to - the - Road Imperial Tires built from American-made rubber. The same in appearance as the pre-war Millers, these tires are 100 per cent pure synthetic rubber. The Rose Tire Co. can fill orders immediately for Grade 3 Tires, and offers a speedy recapping service for all sizes of car and truck tires.

Both Rabbi Chodos and Rabbi Goldblatt are or have moved. Rabbi Chodos is moving to Thirty-fourth and Ruckle near the synagogue and Rabbi Goldblatt is moving way up north around 62nd and Delaware. Jack Kammins also joined the movement, his new home being at 38th and Central.

Louis Barnett called me the other day to say that Louis Glogas was celebrating the twentieth anniversary of his tenure as shammus (sexton to you) at Sharah Tefillah. Mr. Glogas, who is 78, has become a community figure in his twenty-three years (for his first three years here he held the same position with the United Hebrew Congregation) and the word "shammus" at least as I know it, does not convey the place Mr. Glogas holds not only at Sharah Tefillah but in the community. His friends are such leaders as Louis J. Borinstein, Gus Efroymson, the Goldstein brothers, etc. and he is very highly regarded.

Although you might think Mr. Glogas, because he's past three score and ten, isn't quick on the thinker, then listen to this. Out of a clear sky, I asked him whether the Jewish people of today are more or less religious than twenty years ago. Did that stump him or catch him offbase? not on your life. "It's according to the family," Mr. Glogas answered. "If the home is religious, then the children are religious." He did concede however that the Jews of the United States are becoming less religious as a whole.

Mr. Barnett, who is Sharah Tefillah president, praised Mr. Glogas very highly, and expressed the hope that he would live to be 120.

Mr. and Mrs. Glogas have been married for 52 years, and have

Like Father, Like Daughters

JERSEY CITY, N. J. — Like father like daughters fits this story.

When Alexander Raskin graduated from Dickinson High School years ago, he was valedictorian of his class.

Last week Barbara Raskin, his daughter graduated, winning valedictorian honors, among many others, and finishing as the second highest valedictorian in the school's history.

Two years ago, another daughter, Arlene, was valedictorian of her class at the same school.

U. S. Won't Employ Pole

WASHINGTON— Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson has emphasized that Maj. Michael Grazynski, anti-Semitic Polish officer, who is now a student at the School of Military Government at Charlottesville, Va., will never be employed by the United States government. The school is training military administrators for countries liberated from the Nazis. The Polish major was admitted to the school at the request of the Polish Government-in-Exile.

I. U. Sammies Relax at Picnic

BLOOMINGTON — Fra Jerald Mansbach of the I. U. Sigma Alpha Mu house, who is awaiting the call to the armed forces, was guest of honor at a "house picnic" Saturday. Frates Philip Goodman and Edward Reich went to Purdue during the week to visit Fra Dave Pearlman, who was home on leave from Camp Wolters, Tex.

During the week Fra Sol Blackman of Indianapolis visited the house. He expects to enter the Quartermasters Corps Officers Candidate School at Camp Lee, sometime next month. Other guests of the chapter were Mr. and Mrs. Jack Mansbach and their daughter of Fort Wayne, Ind.

Ft. Wayne Lodge Plans Picnic

FT. WAYNE—The B'nai B'rith Lodge will hold its annual picnic Sunday, July 18 at Franke Park all afternoon and evening. Members and their families are invited. Contests will be held for the children and prizes will be given away.

I. U. Hillel Plans Services

BLOOMINGTON—Friday evening services will be held at 6:20 this evening for the Army trainees on the campus in the basement lounge of the Memorial Hall. Tech. Sgt. Abner Litwack will supervise.

Regular Fireside Services will be held at Hillel with the Wesley Foundation, Methodist student group, presenting a panel.

SYNAGOGUE NOTES

Temple Israel

TERRE HAUTE — Rabbi J. Marshall Taxay's sermon for tonight will be, "What Do We Mean By Zionism?" Interest in the summer services is being shown by the exceptionally large attendance each Friday night. Musical selections were beautifully rendered by Miss Virginia Karns, vocalist and violinist, accompanied by Miss Betty Milholand, pianist. Mrs. A. N. Lerin is chairman of the music committee of the temple.

Army Posts

The Weekly Friday evening religious services at Stout Field will be held in the Post Chapel at 6:30 p. m. and will be conducted by Rabbi Nandor Fruchter. Services at the Post Chapel at Ft. Harrison, at 8:00 p. m., will be given by Rabbi M. M. Feuerlicht. The public is urged to attend these services too, for Jewish members of the armed forces enjoy having civilian visitors participate in these religious services with them.

The editor's chair,

I lost my modesty on July 2 and haven't found it yet. And I presume by now all agree that I never will find it again.

So that now that I have been adjudged immodest, I can print the two following items. The first is from the column "Purely Commentary" which is syndicated by the Independent Jewish Press Service, and which is written by Phillip Slomovitz, editor of The Jewish News, of Detroit.

A JEWISH "PULITZER PRIZE"

The Indianapolis Post is without doubt one of the liveliest weeklies in the country. Its editor, Gabriel M. Cohen, is on the alert for good coverage of Jewish news and for intelligent discussion of Jewish issues.

It is to the credit of Cohen and his Post that they plan to observe the paper's 10th anniversary by offering an annual plaque award for the best editorial of the year in the English-Jewish press.

In a sense this marks the introduction of a Jewish "Pulitzer award." Perhaps it will encourage better Jewish journalism. Our press is not a good one. It is still a "shmoo" type of journalism, and a society item continues to be of major importance in the community.

Jewish communities must be elevated culturally, not dragged down to the low ebb of society sheets. If our periodicals will not publish the news affecting our people everywhere, then they will fail in their mission.

The second item is an editorial appearing in last week's edition of The Jewish Ledger of Hartford, Conn. And I reprint it too, for additional proof, if anyone is not convinced.

THE INDIANAPOLIS JEWISH POST

We are happy to greet our contemporary, The Jewish Post of Indianapolis, upon the occasion of its completion of ten years of publication. We have watched The Post since the appearance of its Volume 1, No. 1, and we have seen the journal grow in merit, in enterprise, and in vigor. It was a lively journal from the very beginning, and we are glad to see that it retains its exuberance, its liveliness, and its fine regard for high standards of Jewish journalism. We think that Indianapolis, and Indiana Jewry generally, should be con-

Welcome To Indianapolis

THE JEWISH COMMUNITY of Indianapolis and The Jewish Post welcome the B'nai B'rith dignitaries who will be in the city this Saturday and Sunday for the first meeting of the newly-created War Service Committee of District Grand Lodge No. 2. District 2 of the Order covers lodges in eight states and members from as far west as Denver are expected to be in attendance.

If Henry Monsky, international president of the Order, is able to attend, as is anticipated, then will Indianapolis be all the more honored, and certainly some form of a testimonial or a luncheon attended by the leaders of the community should be arranged, provided the affair will not interfere with the deliberations of the committee.

Unquestionably a large part of the lodge's activities these days is connected with war morale work and the formation of a committee to devise new programs and to investigate new possibilities in line with the increasing emphasis on this phase of the lodge's activities. Thus far a good part of the work done by the individual lodge has been on a volunteer basis with only the major projects being supervised by national or district design. The committee now will no doubt regulate and put into business-like arrangement the work so that lodges all over can put into operation their programs on a planned basis.

Jewish News Services Not Censors

THE POST holds no brief for the sponsors of The Emergency Conference to Save the Jewish People of Europe, set for July 20-25, which very obviously from the very beginning was under the sponsorship of the Committee for a Jewish Army. Yet The Post finds it difficult to condone the action of the Jewish news services in trying to ignore the conference.

It is not and never has been the province of these news agencies to pass on what the Jewish readers of the United States shall read and support. The news agencies are not a board of censors empowered to penalize groups they do not approve of.

The Committee for a Jewish Army has committed a good number of grievous errors, and deserves and has been chastised for them, but it has served to center attention on the plight of the Jews of Europe as much if not more than any other one single group, and certainly it has demonstrated to the old-line Jewish organization that new tactics were indicated.

Be that as it may, the Emergency Conference seems to warrant the utmost commendation. So far it seems that many of the tactics employed in previous promotions which irritated Jews have been avoided in the sponsorship of the new project, and without doubt the centering of attention on the plight of European Jewry and an honest attempt to find means for ameliorating their plight should be above criticism.

There are no grounds for the attitude of the Jewish press services, and they have overstepped their authority in trying to keep from the Anglo-Jewish press legitimate reports of the progress of arrangements for the Conference.

Wholesome And Normal

PASSAGE OF THE resolution urging an amelioration of the plight of Europe's Jews by the student religious council of the University of Indiana, representing the students of that institution, heads a series of events which deserve interpretation and expression.

The resolution is not an isolated incident. Indiana has for several years now conducted an annual campus-wide fund raising project to supply a scholarship for several refugee students, and the atmosphere on the campus in relationship to Jewish activities and Jewish students has been entirely wholesome and normal.

This compares with the pre-Hillel days when the advent of the Foundation of the campus brought out painted swastikas on the sidewalk, and other minor occurrences of the same type. Even the Jewish students had fallen prey to an unhealthy fear and a ghetto-like hiding. Questioned about Hillel at the time a Foundation was being considered, the head of one of the fraternity houses declared that Hillel would bring Anti-Semitism to the campus. Compare that opinion to the present where eighty-five percent of the students (these figures are six months old and may have been revised upwards) are dues-paying members of the Foundation.

The interpretation of these facts is that Hillel has been responsible in large part for the change. Hillel operates openly and with candor. It is not wholly religious, but it is wholly Jewish. It believes that not only do the Jewish students have something more to learn about their religion, but it believes that Jewish life is the more healing because it is open, obvious and unafraid, in other words occupying the place it is willingly assigned under the democratic system, despite the fact that so many would prefer hiding as if being true to one's religion and culture was ever proscribed by true Americanism.

Current Comment

General Public Evidently Not Informed Jewish Groups Receiving Delegation From U.S.S.R., Trend of Events Says—A half page paid advertisement announcing the reception to be tendered to the "official delegation from the U.S.S.R." at the Polo Grounds of New York on July 8th, was the first indication in the general English press of the presence in this country of such a delegation. Except for the statement that the delegation, or rather the organized welcome to it, is sponsored by the Committee of Jewish Writers and Artists, there was no reference to the "Jewishness" of the delegation.

However, the list of Honorary Co-chairmen, including such names as Dr. Nahum Goldman, Rabbi H. S. Goldstein, Mrs. Herbert H. Lehman, Henry Monsky, Mrs. David de Sola Pool, Paul Muni, Dr. Joseph A. Rosen, Baron Edouard de Rothschild, Rabbi Abba Hillel Silver, and Dr. Stephen S. Wise, served as an indication.

In view of the decision taken by the Emergency Committee for Zionist Affairs against official participation in functions to be arranged in connection with the arrival of the delegation, the advertised names of the Zionist leaders caused some surprise.

What Effect Has Liquidation of Warsaw Ghetto on U. S. Jewry. The Voice, Organ of the Jewish National Worker's Alliance, Asks—What impression, one may ask, has the liquidation of the Warsaw Jewish center, the last heroic stand of Warsaw Jewry, made upon the world, on England, on America,—on us Jews in the security and comfort of our American homes? Where is the solidarization with the ghetto-fighters, the memorial meetings, the pounding on the doors of ministries for help, for action, for rescue? Why the silence? Can it be that they have died in vain, that the effect they hoped their act would have on the conscience of the world rebounded on stone?

To ask these questions is already to point the finger of accusation. But where will such questioning get us? Have we not yet learned our lessons? Do we not know yet of what little avail are appeals to the conscience of the world? And why the world—when American Jewry itself is in the throes of a moral and spiritual atrophy?

three sons and one daughter, and six grandchildren. Two of his grandsons, Edgar Siegal and Bernard Glogas, are in the army, the former at Yale in the Navy and the latter an air pilot stationed in California.

Julian Freeman, who was just elected to head the Beth El Men's Club, hears from his former employee, Burt Kohn, who is now in the Navy stationed somewhere in the South Pacific, and who has numerous friends here, including myself. Burt was very likeable and if I recall correctly headed both the Pretender's Club (wonder if its still functioning) and the Temple Youth League.

The Public Relations Council meeting next Wednesday will have as guests the small Jewish merchants of the city, and one of the subjects on the program I hear, is the Detroit riots.

And they say women change their minds! Well how about readers of The Post? Sunday a reader called me by phone at the office to discuss the Goldblatt articles of last week, and he said he had almost been tempted to write a letter in answer to it. So be it. The next morning in the mail, said reader did have an epistle to the editor and it was sizzling. So sizzling in fact that I decided to take it around to Norman Isaacs to get his views on some of the phrases. I got one call from the reader to see if the letter had arrived, I got a call later from the reader to delete a word, and finally I got a call from him saying not to print the letter. Ho, hum. The life of an editor is never dull.

gratulated upon having this lively youngster as its journalistic expression, and we hope that the Post will continue in undiminished zest and zeal to serve its constituency and to represent the possibilities of a free, unhampered unintimidated Anglo-Jewish press.

I have decided to drop the editorial board from the masthead, and I want to express my gratefulness to the rabbis who were kind enough to serve. If you recall, the editorial board was set up when I left early this year for the merchant marine, and the rabbis were to write the editorials during my absence. When I got back in two weeks, the editorials that the rabbis had written had been so well received that I persuaded them to keep on writing, and we let the arrangement stand. But this week I got a call from an Indianapolis rabbi asking that his name be dropped from the board and since I seem to be here indefinitely, the logic for the board has frittered out. I hope however that the rabbis will continue to write for the paper from time to time, so that the very interesting feature, "The Rabbi's study" will appear frequently.

FREEDOM OF THE PRESS

Names of letter writers need not be printed, and never will be divulged, although the name must be appended to the letter as it reaches our office for verification as to authenticity. Unsigned letters will not be considered. Letters should be brief and to the point, and written on one side of the page only.

PRaises POST EDITORIAL. ARTICLE BY GOLDBLATT; TELLS COMMITTEE'S WORK

To the editor,

On July 20, 1943, the Committee for a Jewish Army of Stateless and Palestinian Jews will sponsor an emergency conference to save the Jews of Europe in the city of New York.

As a member of the Executive Board of that Committee out of Chicago, I am proud to be one of those who will attend the conference, and because of my great interest in this Committee, I want to congratulate and compliment you for the splendid editorial carried in this last issue of The Post. It definitely proves that The Jewish Post is operated by men who think, who are unbiased and fair in their opinions.

While Americans of Jewish faith in the state of Indiana—yes, even in Illinois—mumble, criticize, and jeer, the Committee goes right along and accomplishes things. The Anti-Defamation league, the B'nai B'rith, the Jewish Congress, the American Jewish Committee, and the Zionist Organization all have at one time or another denounced the Committee for a Jewish Army because of its "lack of responsibility," but they have never explained that phrase.

Just what is this lack of responsibility, and to whom is the Committee for Jewish Army responsible? Are they responsible to the American people, or to the American Jews, or are they rather responsible to those Jews who are suffering and have suffered the tortures of hell in Europe?

Every Jew is a responsible Jew if he tries to alleviate the horrible conditions prevailing in Europe, and every Jew who lifts a hand to help answer the great question of how to save the Jews of Europe, is a responsible Jew.

Going a little further than your editorial, may I point out that while all of the so-called responsible organizations and responsible Jews have been criticizing and jeering and muttering, the Committee for a Jewish Army has gone right along accomplishing things.

1. The slogan "Action Not Pity," which spread throughout the nation, was created by the Committee for a Jewish Army.

2. Palestinian Jews were not permitted to enlist in the British Army, excepting on a parity basis with the Arabs, resulting in no enlistments. It was the Committee for a Jewish Army, through its London branch, that smashed that parity ruling and opened the gates wide for a Jewish battalion, which did so much to aid the British in their smash through Egypt and through Africa.

3. It was the Committee for a Jewish Army and no other organization that was instrumental in interesting such men as Ben Hecht and Billy Rose to espouse the cause of the Jews.

4. It was the Committee for a Jewish Army that was instrumental in presenting before many, many thousands the pageant, "We Will Never Die," which will very soon, this month, be presented in the Hollywood Bowl in Hollywood, and which may eventually be seen by many millions on the screen. This pageant, speaking with a louder voice than any speaker could present the subject, has already done so much to help the cause of the Jews.

5. And now comes this Emergency Conference, beating all other organizations to the punch, and showing the way to real action.

So that your readers may understand, I might point out that 13 different subdivisions have been prepared for presentation to the Conference.

1. The Conference will be representative of a cross-section of American public opinion.

2. The proposed Conference will be more than a moral upsurge of public opinion. It will be the presentation of the judgment of experts on special subjects.

3. Representatives of all churches in America will be there to take the lead in this great campaign, for we recognize that there are many ways and means in the church to alleviate the plight of the tortured and persecuted Jews.

4. Writers, artists and educators, by virtue of their talent and special place in society, will present their views and will be constituted into a special committee.

5. In view of the fact that the international labor movement has always been the vanguard of the fight for any democratic, liberal and humanitarian cause, such labor unions will be made up into another special committee.

6. The International Red Cross and the Quaker organizations will be invited to cooperate.

7. The Conference will also clarify the possibilities of direct relief in food and clothing for the Jews in Europe.

8. The main point which will interest the Conference will be the problem of whether there exists a possibility for a large scale exodus of the Jews from Europe, and every possible means will be explored for reaching an intelligent conclusion as to how such an exodus may be accomplished.

9. Special attention will be paid to the possibilities which Palestine presents as a shelter for the European Jews.

10. One of the cardinal matters to be discussed at the Conference will be the problem of how to influence and persuade the governments of the United Nations to change their present attitude of ignoring the existence of the problem of the Jewish disaster in Europe.

11. The Conference will discuss the subject of proposing to the governments the creation of a United Nations Agency composed of diplomats and military experts, and not politicians, with full authority to define and effectuate a realistic and stern policy of action to save the remaining millions of Jewish people.

Here is truly a program, not a ridiculous, undemocratic American Jewish Conference where delegates were elected through pressure, and where most of the delegates will be the old-line rich Jew, who is big only by reason of his wealth and not by reason of any natural ability.

It must be stressed that this is not an Emergency Conference of Jews, but an Emergency Conference of all types of American citizens. Bishops from many churches, deans of universities, ministers of every denomination, rabbis, brigadier generals, major generals, rear admirals, former President Herbert Hoover, noted commentators, authors, publishers, U. S. Senators and Congressmen, and even our own governor, Henry F. Schricker, are all sponsors of this conference, a conference that has behind it the backing of more than three million intelligent men and women who signed the original proclamation on the moral rights of stateless and Palestinian Jews, which also was the brainwork of the Committee for a Jewish Army.

I sincerely hope that The Jewish Post will give me the privilege of presenting the results of the conference upon my return from New York. It will be interesting, and it will silence those short-sighted, bigoted, egotistical individuals in many parts of Indiana who are so petty and small as to have presented a dictatorial attitude in an effort to silence the representatives of the Committee for a Jewish Army and prevent them from being heard by the general public.

In fact, it will make an interesting story later if I decide to tell the tale of how certain "big shot" leaders in Gary attempted to silence the Committee for a Jewish Army, and refused to permit the people of Gary to hear them, while members of the Beth-El Temple, the so-called little Jews, were only too happy to listen, and hearing, acclaim the work of the Committee.

Congratulations to Rabbi Maurice Goldblatt for an intelligent statement regarding the American Jewish Conference, and hearty congratulations to The Jewish Post for a splendid editorial. The Committee for a Jewish Army is on its way and nothing will stop it.

RICHARD S. KAPLAN.

GOLDBLATT ARTICLE SHOCKS READER; ATTACKS LOGIC

To the editor,

I was unspeakably shocked by the article published in your paper last Friday over the signature of Rabbi Goldblatt, the Associate Rabbi of the local Reform temple.

Being an Austrian Jew who saw with my own eyes the heart-rending tragedy of his people; who observed at first hand how many Jews paid with their Judaism as the price for the dubious boon of acceptance, I could only react with revulsion born of dark despair when I read the tirade published by Rabbi Goldblatt against Zionism which represents the only hope of our people, and against the contemplated American Jewish Conference of distinguished Jews seeking a solution to the vexing problems of our suffering people.

The article has a familiar ring. So sang the high and mighty of the pre-Nuernberg days through their official mouthpieces.

In the first place, Rabbi Goldblatt is tampering with the truth when he classifies as upstarts, a brilliant galaxy of staunch defenders of Jews and Judaism who, by and large, hold life-long positions of leadership in Jewry by virtue of their sterling record of service and unflinching zeal for the vital causes and traditions in Jewish life.

Secondly, in view of the fact that every Jewish national organization without exception, represented in the contemplated assembly, voted in favor of holding the conference on August 29th and to participate wholeheartedly, it ill becomes the Rabbi, after all the elections are over and the results announced, to engage in post mortems, in what seems to me the vain hope of reviving a corpse.

It makes one think of the old fox in the fable of the sour grapes.

It is especially provoking to read the reference to the Zionists as a pressure group merely because by orderly democratic procedure they succeeded in convincing American Israel of the vitality of their movement.

Whence does Rabbi Goldblatt derive the authority to pit himself against the collective judgment of American Israel?

I knew Rabbis in Germany—anti-Zionists as well as Zionists by expediency—who, after the debacle which befell us there, wept bitterly over the sins they committed against Zionism, begging at the same time for the privilege of going to Palestine—that very Palestine prepared for them by "the zealots and fanatics" in Jewish life whom they derided before.

A kind of providence gives American Israel an opportunity to benefit from such gruesome experiences. Rabbi Goldblatt's article indicates that there always will be those among us who never learn, that fate is globally minded.

RABBI GORFINKEL SAYS POST PERFORMING REAL SERVICE

To the Editor:

You must have wondered at my silence on the occasion of the tenth anniversary issue of The Post. Frankly, I too wondered after receiving the issue at your failing to notify me of this occasion. It was all clarified to me when a few days after I had received the anniversary issue your letter was delivered to me. Through some mistake in the postoffice the letter had been sent to Chicago and had made quite a circuitous trip until it reached me. I truly regret this very much.

I do not however, want to let the occasion pass without any comment on my part. In addition to all the things my colleagues have said in their greetings about The Post, I think that you have fulfilled two distinct services with the type of editing you have done. First you have brought current Jewish news, week in and week out to innumerable Indiana Jews who have no other way of getting it and who are deeply interested in what is going on in Jewish life here and abroad. Second, your type of editing has been a sort of personal contact measure which has made The Post the unifying link in the scattered chain of Indiana Jewish communal life. In the classical Hebrew fashion I say to you — Chazak Veematz!

READING (PA.) RABBI LIKES POST FOR HONESTY, FEARLESSNESS

To the editor,

I send you belated congratulations on the tenth anniversary of The Jewish Post. I find your paper invariably interesting. You have a live editorial page and I like the way you open your columns to divergent points of view. With Jewish journalism what it is, it is good to see a paper that isn't afraid to print honest comment on Jewish life, and that has a healthy respect for the importance of ideas.

Sincerely yours,
SIDNEY L. REGNER.

NOT AMERICAN. GOLDBLATT TOLD ON CONFERENCE OBJECTION

To the editor,

Your issue of July 9 carried an article by Rabbi Maurice Goldblatt in which the worthy rabbi recommends that the American Jewish Conference should not meet.

One can easily read between the lines of his objections. Paraphrased they seem to sound something like this:

"Inasmuch as the Zionists captured the votes, the Conference will not be a representative body. If more non-Zionists had been elected everything would have been fine.

"In the second place unknowns and upstarts dared resort to democratic means and successfully challenged the claims to leadership of men who had appointed themselves Jewish leaders. Hence the elections have caused no end of controversy.

"Finally, the whole system of democratic elections is a farce. The only way to arrive at solutions is for a few men at the top to agree on a program. They can then inform the masses of what has been decided."

Sorry, Rabbi Goldblatt, that is not the American way, not the Jewish way, not the democratic way. If I were to use the proper phrase you would accuse me of name-calling. Apply your suggestions to the national American elections—say, in a year of a democratic landslide, and you may get the point.

SAYS CCAR RESOLUTION FOUND FAULT ONLY WITH MANNER AND METHOD

To the editor,

First let me congratulate you on your excellent paper. It stands out as a beacon in the dark field of Jewish weeklies. And particularly your bravery in publishing Rabbi Goldblatt's article, "The American Jewish Conference Should Not Meet." Most of the Jewish press seems to be afraid to print any article not furnished by Z.O.A.

But the purpose of this letter is to comment on your editorial.

Mildred Stein, Lt. Paul Draizer Pledge Troth

Mr. and Mrs. B. Stein, 1127 Union St., announce the engagement of their daughter, Mildred, to Lt. Paul Draizer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Abe Draizer, 2410 N. Delaware St. No date has been set for the wedding. Miss Stein is a graduate of Manual Training High School. Lt. Draizer is a graduate of Arsenal Tech. Before he entered the U. S. service, he was a draftsman at Allison's.

Local Families Move Into New Homes

Indianapolis families seem to be unable to await the traditional moving day, October 1, to settle themselves in new homes.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Kammins and family will move in the next week or so into their new home at 3759 Central Ave.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Weinberger, formerly from Cincinnati, and Mr. and Mrs. Manuel Leve went to Cincinnati last week to attend a performance of the opera "Tosca".

Mr. and Mrs. Alex Schuchman have as their guest, Mrs. Max Gellerman and children, of Newark, N. J. Mrs. Gellerman is a sister of Mrs. Schuchman.

Friends of Mrs. Jacob Mueller, were glad to welcome her at Broadmoor last Sunday. She has almost completely recovered from an accident that disabled her for many months.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Wagman of New Castle left Sunday for a six-weeks' trip to New York and the White Mountains in New Hampshire. While in New York they will visit Mrs. Wagman's daughter, Mrs. Jack Rogers, and Mrs. Wagman's son, Pvt. Seymour Greenberg, who is in New York on a furlough.

Freedom of the Press

"The Anomalous Position of the Reform Rabbi." I think you leave a wrong impression in the minds of your readers when you state that the passage of the Smith-Connally Labor Bill was criticized by the Reform Rabbis of the United States. The resolution was carefully drawn, and merely found fault with the manner and method of the enactment of the bill, which because of the "intemperance and impatience" may jeopardize the democratic orderly procedures which alone must be depended upon to adjust our difficult economic relationships in the days to come.

I think the forward looking Jewish laymen stand squarely behind the Rabbis in their stand for Social Justice. Mr. Robert Goldman of Cincinnati said a short time ago, "You Rabbis go ahead with your fight for social progress; we laymen, though limpingly, will surely follow you."

With congratulations on your anniversary,
RABBI ISAAC E. MARCUSON.
